(e) Concello de Boiro

A scenic landscape photograph of a large body of water, likely a lake or reservoir, under a clear blue sky. The sun is high, creating a bright, shimmering reflection on the water's surface that extends from the middle ground towards the foreground. The water is a deep blue color. In the background, there are rolling green hills and a small town or village nestled in the valley. The foreground is partially obscured by dark green foliage and ferns on the right side. The overall atmosphere is peaceful and natural.
